IAM FINALIZING AND EXPECTED TO FILE CHALLENGES TO INFLATED VOTER ELIGIBILITY LIST

The IAM is finalizing its challenges to the inflated voter eligibility list submitted to the National Mediation Board (NMB) by Republic Airways management last month. The legal challenges are expected to be filed in the coming days.

To delay Republic Airways AMT's right to vote for IAM representation, Republic management, directed by high-priced law firm Ford and Harrison, the most country's most notorious anti workers' rights law firm, inflated the list of workers included in the mechanic and related classification. Management included workers they know, such as supervisors and clerical employees, that are not part of the AMT group solely to delay our right to vote.

The legal challenges that the IAM will put forth are very detailed and take time to put together. IAM attorneys spent many hours reviewing documents, drafting legal submissions and interviewing employees to ensure that Republic management's scheme is not successful.

Republic AMT's campaign for IAM representation is a little over a year old now and the IAM is doing all that it can to ensure that Republic AMTs obtain the right to vote in a representation election. Republic management is doing everything that it can to ensure our right to vote is taken away. Why?
